

Berlin Charité Hospital did not test water bottle or clothing brought by Navalny's staff.

Did Berlin doctors in 2020 test water bottle or clothing evidence which had been brought to Berlin by Navalny's staff on the evacuation aircraft?

According to [1] the statement from the Charité hospital in Berlin, they did not test any water bottle or clothing evidence which had been brought to Berlin by Navalny's staff on the evacuation aircraft. The German doctors' report, however, notes that no evidence was detected by the Germans of a poison attack on Navalny in the Omsk hospital, as Navalny and the western press have recently alleged
